Scleroderma is a debilitating and too often a fatal auto-immune disease that affects 300,000 people across our country. Scleroderma itself means "hard skin". The hardness is caused by increased production of collagen and other proteins that cause skin thickening and replace normal skin structure with scar tissue. Scleroderma can be a devastating disease and the same thickening process may occur in the blood vessels, the lungs, the kidneys, the intestinal tract and other key organs.

The American Society For Scleroderma Research was founded in 2004 to bring awareness to this disease and work towards finding the cause and a cure. We have several victims in our local area and your generosity is greatly appreciated.

Individuals continue to be disabled and often die from this debilitating disease. To date there is no cure. Our mission is to find one! For more information, visit our website at www.ASFSR.org or contact us at 203-273-2034.
